We the Animals: Justin Torres 2011-08-30 An award-winning novel in stories surrounding a young, half-breed, half-white boy who struggles with his gender, love, and identity. As he grapples with this profound confusion, Justin Torres plunges us into the chaotic heart of one family, the intense bonds of three brothers, and the mythic effects of this fierce love on the people we must become. NOW A MAJOR MOTION PICTURE 'A tremendously gifted writer whose highly personal voice should excite us in much the same way that Raymond Carver’s or Jeffrey Eugenides’ voice did when we first heard it.’ - ‘Washington Post “We the Animals is a dark jewel of a book. It is haunting, beautiful, and heartbreaking. It’s one of the most important novels of the decade.’ - Washington Post By Michael Cunningham “A minute in concentrated pages, you are going to read it again and again.’ - Oprah Winfrey “Tumbles with Animals by the Numbers—Steve Jenkins 2016-11-01 How many species are there across the globe? How much do all of the insects in the world collectively weigh? How far can animals travel? Steve Jenkins answers these questions and many more with maps, diagrams, infographics, and authoritative science in his latest work of illustrated nonfiction. Jenkins lays her signature cut-paper illustrations alongside computer graphics and a test that is teasingly with fresh, unexpected, and accurate zoological information ready for readers to easily devour. The level of scientific research paired with Jenkins’ creativity and accessible infographics is unmatched and sure to wow fans old and new.

The Storytelling Animal Jonathan Gottschall 2012 Explores the latest ideas about why people tell stories and why stories matter. He uses examples from a wide range of cultural traditions and modern-day Mesoamerican Indian peoples to show the processes of modern storytelling. He then reviews the latest scientific research that suggests storytelling is a vital tool for survival and that it shapes who we are as a species.

Wild Animals in Captivity—Bob Ladiwalla 2017-12-21 “A ramped lip pacing back and forth on a worn path and dolphins oxymoring in unseen circles are captive animals exhibiting ‘stereotypies,’ or repetitive abnormal behaviors that provide no natural function and no obvious self-appeasing function is a common sight in many zoos. Laidlaw effectively captures the plight of these animals, as well as giving voice to those who care about them.” — Kirkus Reviews on the 2017 hardcover edition
